MYSTERY SURROUNDS AIRSHIP NORGE

WELCOME AWAITS INTREPID FLIERS FROM ROME TO NOME

Silent Since Heard From At Point Barrow—Time Is Up For Trip To Have Ended—Weather Conditions Add to Apprehension—A laskan City Prepares a Great Welcome to the Heroes of the Air—Enthusiasm Reigns In Nome, the Northmost City of the United States.

being at 2:29 o'clock, Eastern Standard time. (All references to time in reports on the ship in this item are Eastern Standard.)

At 2:29 o'clock St. Paul heard the Norge call an unidentified station and say, "Go ahead."

Other reports from Alaska said the Norge passed over Point Barrow at 1:30 o'clock and had been expected to arrive at Nome by 8 o'clock. Point Barrow is 550 miles north of Nome on the Arctic coast.

BRIEFLY TOLD

Mystery veils the location of the transpolar dirigible Norge, which was due to arrive at Nome, Alaska Thursday on its nonstop flight over the "top of the world" from King's Bay, Spitzbergen.

The Norge was reported to have been sighted off Point Barrow, 550 miles from Nome, at 7:30 o'clock Friday morning, Alaska time.

Fear was expressed that the Norge may have been enveloped in mist and clouds and passed southward, unable to see flares burning at the Nome landing field.

Early Friday the United States radio station at St. Paul, Pribiloff Islands, picked up this message from the Norge:

"Airship Norge, bound for Nome, Alaska, broadcasting. Please answer if anyone hears us."

The operator at the St. Paul station has tried in vain for 15 hours to establish communication with the Norge which is carrying the Amundsen-Ellsworth Arctic expedition.

Later, however, the St. Paul operator reported that he heard the Norge call Station RDG at Sredne, Kolymsk.

Both the St. Paul, Pribiloff Island station, which is located in the Bering Sea, midway between the Aleutian Islands and Nome, and the naval station at Nome have been calling the Norge continuously, but up to a late hour no communication has been established.

Neither has any message been picked up from the Norge.

The Norge, in broadcasting its message, was using a 900-meters wavelength.

Shortly after the Norge's message was picked up and transmitted from the St. Paul station the KFQD broadcasting station at Anchorage sent out a message of welcome to Amundsen and his intrepid aids and broadcast a musical program for their benefit.

The population of Nome remained up thruout the night to welcome the Norge and its crew of explorers. A festive spirit pervades the city. Residences and business houses are decorated in honor of the occasion.

It will be the greatest demonstration the Arctic region ever has known when the Norge drops her anchors at the flying field.

A huge arch with the words, "From Rome to Nome" has been constructed across the city's main thoroughfare.

The American northwest continued to wait and hope for word out of the polar silence of the dirigible Norge.

Advices to Seattle from Nome, goal of the great adventure of Raold Amundsen and his party, indicated that apprehension was being felt, as considerably more than sufficient time had elapsed for the Norge to reach Nome from Point Barrow, where it previously had been heard.

The last authentic word received from the craft was from St. Paul Island, in the Bering Sea, where the United States navy has a powerful wireless station.

This station reported having heard from the Norge five times Thursday night and early Friday, the last time

Two Thousand Boy Scouts Meet the President

President Coolidge, who is honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America, greeted over 2,000 of the scouts at the White House. The scouts were in Washington attending the sixteenth annual convention of the national council.

OBERLIN GIRL IS CANDIDATE YOUTH AWARD

Cornelia Rogers Has Been Listed "Volunteer Seamstress" of Family.

An unusual claim to excellence has been made by the sponsors for Mary Cornelia Rogers, 15 year old Oberlin, Ohio, high school girl candidate for the American Youth Award. They have listed her as "Volunteer seamstress of the family."

The American Youth Award and the American Teacher award have been established as a tribute to the youth and teachers of America by the directors of the Sesqui-Centennial International exposition which will be held in Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1, in celebration of 150 years of American Independence. The award is open to all boys and girls between the ages of 13 and 19 and to all women school teachers. Candidates may obtain official entry forms from Sesqui-Centennial headquarters, Philadelphia.

Each state and the District of Columbia has been invited to seek out its most outstanding boy and girl and woman teacher and these three will go to Philadelphia as guests of the exposition for the week of June 28 to July 5. They will also visit Washington, and at the White House will be presented with medals by President Coolidge. All of their expenses will be paid from the time they leave home until they return.

Miss Rogers' sponsors, the Rev. L. L. Lobingier, of 102 Morgan street, and Howard S. Rawdon, of 35 South Professor street, Superintendent of public schools, of Oberlin, Ohio, in support of her claim to those qualities on which the award will be made courage, heroism, sacrifice, leadership and patriotism—say of her: "The neighborhood children love her; older people mention her smile of greeting and the shut-ins, on whom she calls regularly, rely upon her. Every job gets the very best effort of which she is capable."

"In leadership she is not spectacular, neither craving the lime-light nor playing to the gallery. Instead, she is modest, quiet, persevering and faithful, accomplishing much by her methods in church, school, community and home work."

"At school she is student senate secretary, and as assistant literary editor of the school magazine was awarded a $20 prize for literary attainment and a bronze medal in a Peace Declaration contest."

The award will be made by a committee of pupils drawn from public, private and parochial schools in or near the Capital City. The administration of the award in Ohio will be conducted by a state committee of which Governor Donahey is honorary chairman.

THREE KILLED AND ANOTHER BADLY HURT

Their Automobile Stalled in Path of Speeding Freight Train at Lima.

Lima, O., May 14, (UP). —Three Ohio Northern university students, one a woman, were killed and a fourth was injured perhaps fatally in a grade crossing crash near here today.

The dead: Mason Jones, 23, Chillicothe. Frank Martin, 20, Barborton. Miss Jessie Mullen, Lima.

Frank Phillips, 19, Dover, Ohio, was so critically injured he probably will die physicians said.

The accident occurred at the Jackson street crossing when the automobile in which the students were riding stalled in the path of a speeding freight train.

Jones and Miss Mullen were killed instantly. Martin died while being moved to a hospital.

Phillips' body tossed forty feet from the shattered car. He was unconscious when picked up. One of his legs was broken and he had been injured internally.

The students had just left a Lima dance hall. Dancing at Ohio Northern has been banned. With others they had gone to Kenton where they rented the automobile to drive to Lima.

They were returning to Kenton when the crash occurred. Students in other machines were driving ahead of them and others were bringing up the rear.

Six Million Criminals in U. S., Records Show

Washington.—Statistics, disclosing that about 6,000,000 Americans at some time in their lives have indulged in criminal careers, were obtained at the Department of Justice.

About 3,000,000 have been accused in the courts. The other half, although at some time guilty of offenses for which they might have served terms in prison, have escaped the vigilance of the police.

The estimate of the criminally inclined population was made by department experts on the basis of the fact that finger-print records of 1,013,000 criminals are on file in the bureau of identification.

He's Cautious

Richmond, Va.—One Virginian is going to be a bachelor, for a while at least, because of his caution. To the questions of the clergyman, at his wedding, the cautious groom insisted on replying: "I'll do the best I can." The ceremony was called off and the licensee returned to the county clerk's office.

MEETING AT XENIA.

Seven delegates from Columbus, members of the state child welfare committee of the 40 et 8, and the chairman of the child welfare committee will attend a meeting of the Grand Voiture of Ohio Saturday and Sunday at Xenia.

The meeting was called to prepare plans by which 850 orphans of World war veterans, for whom there is now no room in state institutions, may be quartered. Members of the organization, thru branches in 66 counties, have completed a survey disclosing inadequate care for at least this number of children of World war veterans.

The organization also will make final plans for adding 1000 volumes to the library at the Soldiers and Sailors' Orphans' Home at Xenia, and for buying instruments to increase the band at the home from 39 to 80 players.

KENTUCKY DERBY

Louisville, Ky., May 13.—

(UP.)—It is now believed not more than 15 will go to the post in the 52nd renewal of the Kentucky Derby Saturday afternoon at Churchill Downs.

The field will be divided about equally between the East and the West. Eight of the 15 will carry the colors of Eastern horsemen and seven the colors of the West.

Eastern representatives are Pompey, Light Carbine, Blondin, Espino, Rock Man, Color Sergeant and Canter. The West's hopes are Bubbling Over, Baggenbaggage, Rhinock, Recollection, Roycroft, Champ de Mars and American Son.

American Son and Recollection are doubtful starters. Both have worked well, but Recollection hardly could be called of derby quality. He ran with rank platers last year and in defeating a nag called Bumpkin at Latonia last fall started an investigation which ended up in exposure of the famous jockey ring which brought about the expulsion of six riders and a number of horsemen who were accused of fixing races. The latest to be declared out of the derby are Timmara which came out of the Peckness in a bad way; Boot to Boot, Smiling Gus and My Colonel.

Canter, Display, Rock Man, Espino and Baggenbaggage arrived at the Downs late Wednesday. All shipped well.

AMUSEMENTS

Mae Busch and Owen Moore, favorites of millions of screen fans, head a brilliant cast at the Met in "Camille of the Barbary Coast" a highly dramatic story of a famous woman character of the dance halls who is lifted from the mire of the underworld thru the love of a ne'er-do-well. This youth is embittered against his own father and the world because of a prison sentence and the apparent unwillingness of society to give him a chance since his release from the prison walls.

Most of the background is that of the Barbary Coast that was known the world over before the San Francisco earthquake. Here was the land of the rouged cheek and the painted smile. Here was the port where there was a girl for every sailor. Here was a meeting place for the riff-raff of the world, the down-and-outs, the soldiers of fortune. Life was a gamble and virtue and sin were the chips.

Camille was just another of those women. But under the veneer of paint and forced abandon was a kindly soul and a big heart. After all, Camille was someone's daughter.

The prison gates had swung wide for Bob Norton. Bob had served his time, paid for his misdeed and squared himself with the world. All that he asked was a job—but all that he got was promise. Like a million other embittered and misguided souls, his footsteps carried him into the stormy Barbary coast. And then into the Midway, the hall of short dances and short skirts.

Interesting characters drifted by, faces that would fit into brighter settings, hearts that should have beaten to other tunes. Camille walked near his table, smiled and sat down. There in the foul atmosphere of wine and perfume and smoke they talked. Their friendship grew and Bob went to Camille's little apartment to accept food and shelter. Now commenced a struggle that carried them into new realism of hope and ambition.

The production is said to be one of the leading pictures of its kind of the year. The featured players are supported by a strong cast of well known cinema artists headed by Burr McIntosh, Harry T. Morey, Tammany Young and Fritzie Brunette. It is a Huge Dierker production from a story written by Forrest Halsey.

x x x x x x x x

Next week the Hartman Stock company will turn again to the lighter form of summer amusement and in "Judy Drops In" will offer a romantic comedy which is laid in Greenwich Village. It concerns a Cinderella of the Latin quarter with four guardians and is said to provoke more continuous laughter than any farce of recent years. "Judy" differs from the ordinary run of farces in that it contains not only the requisite number of mirth provoking situations and funny lines, but also a charming romantic love story as well. As one New York critic phrased it—"It makes the dimples to catch the tears."

Mark Swan, the author, is often referred to as the veteran farce writer and the New York production of "Judy Drops In" marked the 25th successive year that a play of his had been presented on Broadway, so Mr. Swan refers to "Judy" as his silver jubilee play.

The presentation at the Hartman next week will probably be the last time this play is ever offered by any stock company as it has already been withdrawn from the list of stock releases and is at the present time being fitted to tunes and lyrics and this winter "Judy" will revisit Broadway as a musical comedy. The Hartman Stock company will be allowed to produce it next week as a compliment to their stage director, John Hayden, who directed the original New York production.

A stock season is interesting to watch from the standpoint of the way in which it offers opportunities to the members of the cast. The big parts swing in a circle. You may remember that it was the third week before Georgio Neese and John Lott came in to their own. In next week's play, Martha Lee Manners gets her big chance in a role that suits her down to the ground.

Miss Neese will be seen in a totally different part and so will Miss Ford, Donn Cook, Neil McFee, John Lott and Forrest Orr will play the four residents of the American artists quarter, next week will be your chance to see how they really live. You can imagine the fun to be extracted from the situations when the four men are occupying one room—cooking their own meals on a two-burner gas stove, and Judy drops in on them and is promptly adopted by the quartet. All four of the boys fall in love with her and to tell any more would spoil your fun. So make your reservation now because "Judy" will be very popular in Columbus next week.

Matinees Tuesday, Thursday and Saturdays.

Cottonseed Important

For decades cottonseed was a waste product. Today cottonseed is one of the country's foremost food and feed products, furnishing vast quantities of meal for animals, with a result that cottonseed alone, apart from cotton lint, is exceeded in value by only seven American farm crops—corn, cotton lint, hay, wheat, white potatoes, oats and tobacco. Cottonseed has greater value than the combined barley, rye and buckwheat crops of America and twice the value of America's apple crop.

TURNPIKE LAW IN PICKAWAY OF INTEREST

This is Statute Governing
 Our Highways as Amended and Passed in 1893.

In these days of road building and road improvements, the statute controlling the roads of Pickaway county, may be of interest to our readers.

It was amended and passed April 14, 1893, to read as follows:

"That the turnpike roads in Pickaway county, Ohio, now under the control of the commissioners of said county, including the free turnpike from the corporation line of the city of Circleville to the Red bridge across the Scioto river in Circleville township, which is hereby placed under the control of said commissioners, shall be 40 feet in width, measuring 20 feet each way from the center of the road as originally established; provided, that any of said township pike roads having a side track laid out at the time of the construction of said turnpike road, shall be 45 feet in width, measuring 22½ feet from the center of the road as originally established.

"The commissioners of said county are hereby authorized to enforce the establishment of the width of said turnpike roads as herein provided, and if any fence is upon the limits of said roads, the commissioners shall give notice to the owner or owners to cause the said fence or fences to be removed within twenty days and in case the removal is not made within the time specified, the commissioners may cause the removal of said fence or fences at the cost of the owner or owners, and if payment of the cost thereof is not made, or refused, the amount shall be assessed and collected as other taxes.

"Provided however, that where substantial fences have been built, or where a hedge fence has been grown within the boundaries of said turnpike previous to the passage of this act and so located as not to endanger or interfere with the free passage of travel or the maintenance of ditches for drainage of said turnpikes, the commissioners on view may permit said fence or hedge to remain until such time as in their opinion said fence or hedge should be renewed, and provided further, that whenever in their opinion fence are located within the boundary of said turnpike for the safety of the traveling public, the commissioners may permit such fences to so remain.

"Any person who places within the limits of any such road any wood, stone or other obstructions, so as to interfere with the public travel or prevents or interferes with the free passage of water in the side drains or ditches of any such roads, and, upon being notified by the commissioners to remove such obstruction, neglects or refuses to comply with such requirements within ten days from service of such notice, he shall forfeit and pay to and for the benefit of the turnpike fund of the county a sum not less than three nor more than ten dollars for each and every day he permits such obstruction to remain upon such road after the expiration of ten days from the service of such notice, which sum shall be recoverable by action in the name of the township where the destruction is placed."

Nebraska U Arranges Exchange With Mexico

City of Mexico.—Negotiations looking toward an exchange between the United States and Mexico of scientific and research knowledge have been conducted along successful lines in the last two months between the University of Nebraska and the Institute of geology of the Mexican government.

Prof. E. F. Schramm, chief of the department of geology and paleontology of the University of Nebraska, is the chief power behind the movement to bring about an exchange between the countries of fossils, minerals and meteoric stones. John Zozaya, secretary of Judge E. B. Perry, American commissioner at the meetings of the special claims commissions, was commissioned to initiate the move to strengthen the scientific collections now existing in both countries with such specimens as each country is able to supply, which the other has not got.

It is pointed out that there exist many fossils and other objects of scientific value in Mexico which are not to be found in museums in the United States and vice versa.

POULTRY AND HOG EXPERT COMING.

Dr. H. F. Emick, of the Research department of the George H. Lee company, Omaha, Nebraska, will speak on the Diseases of Poultry and Swine, Their Cause, Treatment and Prevention, May 18, at 2 o'clock at Cloverdell Poultry farm.

He will also conduct a Post-mortem demonstration clinic, teaching all who attend to easily recognize the common ailments of poultry and swine. This demonstration is of great value to every poultry and hog raiser, because the successful treatment of any trouble depends upon an accurate diagnosis and prompt action. Thousands of dollars are lost by farmers every year because of their inability to recognize trouble until it is well started when, if taken in time, loss could have been prevented. Hear this expert and be prepared. You may not be having any losses now, but the time will surely come when the information gained will pay big dividends.

Everyone who has been losing any chickens or pigs, or who has chickens or pigs that are not doing well, is urged to bring a specimen or two for examination and receive free instructions on the treatment, cause and prevention of the trouble. Urge your neighbor to do likewise. The more specimens brought in, the better the demonstration will be. There will be no admission charge, and no one will be solicited to buy anything, inasmuch as this meeting will be held purely for educational purposes with regard to the prevention of disease among poultry and swine. Come! and bring your poultry and pig troubles with you.

HAS CLEAREST SKIES IN WORLDQuetta May Be Chosen for Smithsonian-Geographic Observatory.

Washington.—Quetta, in Baluchistan, near which it is probable that a new solar observatory will be established by the National Geographic society and the Smithsonian institution, is familiar—as a name—to readers of Kipling and workers of cross-word puzzles, but probably means little to most Americans. The city and its region, recently visited by Dr. C. G. Abbot, assistant secretary of the Smithsonian institution, are the subjects of a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"Quetta exists primarily for military purposes," says the bulletin, "but the Pax Britannica that has been substituted for the lawlessness and banditry of former days has made an important civil community and trading center of it as well. Baluchistan is India's fortress to the east, and Quetta is its donjon keep. The British have been in control of the place since 1877, and since 1882 have held it under perpetual lease from its old ruler, the picturesquely named Wali of Kalat.

"When the British went in Quetta was only a little group of mud huts surrounded by unhealthy plains that were virtually swamps. Drainage and sanitation have made the place over. Now Quetta has a population of about 30,000; and the once swampy lowlands furnish a setting for villas and farmhouses surrounded by orchards and planted groves.

Mud Gives Way to Iron.

"The outstanding feature of Quetta, still, however, is the cantonment where six or eight regiments of British and Indian troops are quartered. This extensive post is to the north on relatively high ground while the civil town is to the south on a lower level. Mud, in the form of sun-dried brick, is still a most important building material in the town, though not to the extent that it was two decades ago. Then mud-brick domes formed many of the roofs, and were considered safe because of Quetta's scant rainfall (about 10 inches annually). But there came an unusually wet spring, and most of Quetta's buildings melted away. Since then many iron roofs—less picturesque, but better insurance against weather vagaries—have surmounted the mud walls of the town.

"The permeation of Quetta by British, or perhaps more broadly, by Western, influence, is a phenomenon that cannot be escaped by anyone who has known the town over a series of years. The standard of living rises before his eyes. Tea, a little while ago a marked luxury, is becoming a common beverage. Leather footwear has displaced sandals to a noteworthy degree; all classes are wearing warmer and more comfortable clothing; and the native women are decking themselves out in more ornaments, after the manner of their prosperous sisters in other climes.

"The climate of Quetta has interesting aspects. The place is in the same latitude as Cairo; Jacksonville, Fla.; and Shanghai; but, because of its 6,000 feet of altitude and the physical aspect of the surrounding country, its climate is very different. Each day the mercury bobs up and down through a wide range. The difference between daily maximum and minimum has been known to reach 80 degrees; but such excessive changes are confined to certain short seasons. The hills and even the valleys of Baluchistan are largely treeless, and when the sun is down heat radiates away rapidly. As a consequence the nights are always cool—

"In the matter of combating the climate, there is nothing like an American standard of comfort in the homes even of Europeans in Quetta. The winters in general are no more severe than those of Washington, but the houses are so constructed that it is most difficult if not impossible to keep warm. The rooms are huge—16 by 25 feet or so, with ceilings 18 to 24 feet high. Small fireplaces are set far into the very thick walls and what little warmth they radiate into the rooms is lost in their vastness. Yet coal of fair quality is mined nearby and is used in the town. Its use in modern heating systems could make Quetta homes as comfortable as any in the world.

"Clearest Sky in the World."

"If the National Geographic-Smithsonian solar observatory is established in Baluchistan it will be placed on top of 7,525-foot Kojak peak about 40 miles north of Quetta near the railroad which pierces the Kojak range and extends to Chaman, ten miles beyond on the Afghan border. To the east beyond the Kojak mountains the Registan or Helmand desert stretches for more than 100 miles. It is 60 miles to the nearest mountains in the north. To the east lies a long, broad valley. On this relatively isolated mountain ridge on the edge of the desert the precipitation is even less than in Quetta—probably seven inches or less per year. When Doctor Abbot visited the Kojak peak in January he reported that the sky was perfectly blue right up to the sun's edge and added: 'It was the clearest sky I have ever seen in the world.'

NATIVE WHITES
GROWS SMALLER
Carnegie Institute Expert Declares Real American Blood on Rapid Decrease—Many To Inter-marry--Original Inhabitants Will Become 39 Per Cent of Total in Four Generations.

Washington, May 13.—Within four generations the United States will be dominated by descendants of present foreign born residents, according to estimates by the Carnegie Institution of Washington, being studied by the house immigration committee.

Whereas native whites now constitute 76.73 per cent of the total population, birth control and other factors will have shrunk this group to 39.37 per cent. Descendants of the foreign born will in the same period total 51.76 per cent of the whole population, if present birth records are maintained.

The results of three separate surveys by the eugenics record office of the institution at Cold Harbor, New York, on the relation between immigration and numbers and quality of future population, were laid before the committee by Dr. H. Laughlin.

"If in any geographical region," said Dr. Laughlin, "we have the time, numbers and quality of its original seed-stock population, and for all subsequent periods we have a record of the age, sex, numbers and quality of all immigrants, the differential birth and survival rates for each population group, we can determine the population number, race and quality at any given future date."

The native born stock of the United States now has a reproducing rate of .42; the American Negro, .43, and the foreign, .71, according to the survey.

The American Negro, now 9.9 per cent of the total population, will have shrunk to but 6.89 per cent at the end of the fourth generation.

"Of course," the report said, "these groups will not maintain reproductive independence. They will, to some extent, intermarry. Nor will they keep up their present differential birth rate indefinitely."

"With the change of economic and social conditions, they will show a corresponding rise and fall in fecundity. But in the main, the tendencies shown in this table will persist for a long time and will greatly influence the future character of the country's population."

Changing a Tire
Before we were married my sweetheart seemed the most bland and placid person one might ever hope to meet, so it was quite a shock when about two weeks afterward I heard some one indulging in a violent spell of profanity and discovered it was my own dear husband changing a tire.—G. M., in Chicago Tribune.

Perfect wisdom hath four parts, viz: Wisdom, the principle of doing things aright; justice, the principle of doing things equally in public and private; fortitude, the principle of not flying danger, but meeting it; and temperance, the principle of subduing desires, and living moderately.—Plato.

Influenza Ravages
Authorities differ as to the first account of influenza, as well as to the identity of epidemics occurring before 1580. A severe epidemic in 412 B. C., described by Hippocrates and Livius, is thought to have been influenza. Authentic epidemics of the disease have occurred frequently since 1173.

Policeman (to bespectacled old professor who has witnessed the smash) —You say you saw the accident, sir. What was the number of the car that knocked this man down?

Professor—I'm afraid I've forgotten it. But I remember noticing that if it were multiplied by itself, the cube root of the product would be equal to the sum of the digits reversed.

SOUNDS QUEER, EH?

"Financially I'm all in."

YOU'RE MIGHTY WELCOME

Says "Doc" Bales, To the Triangle Gardens.

Following a hobby is terribly expensive to some of us and more often leads to ways other than prosperity, but this does not refer to what Doctor B. R. Bales has done with his.

When just a small boy in school his teachers were hard pressed to keep him interested so one of them remarks and translating her remarks literally, she thought he was what is commonly known as a bad boy. Racking her brain to keep him out of mischief she started him upon a hobby which at first was gathering birds' nests, eggs, Indian trophies and finally wild flowers. From wild flowers to the growing of cultivated ones is only a short step and a trip down the Scioto Trail just south of town will show how far Doctor Bales has let his hobby take him.

Finishing school he took up the study of medicine as after he became interested in study, if it was only that of flowers, he went to work with a will and graduated with honors from old Everts High School and took his course at Ohio State University and was graduated in 1894.

He afterward took a medical course, and became the most sought after doctor in the county in maternity cases.

His father, Mr. J. F. Bales, who at that time was a sufferer from anaemia, was greatly in need of a blood transfusion and the Doctor gave his blood to help save his father's life. This he underwent a second and third time and the loss of blood, while restoring his father's health, weakened his condition and caused him to become nervous and practically unfit to perform his duties with the same amount of pep that he had been putting into the work. This work at best is extremely trying and exacting and the doctor found that he would be unable to keep it up.

While recuperating and taking life a shade easier, he turned his attention to raising flowers again and giving more time to it he raised more flowers. First thing he knew, he had so many flowers he did not know what to do with them and some one offered to buy some while the most of them went to his friends.

He finally was confronted with the fact that he must dispose of them and to his surprise he found a ready market for all of them and more than he could supply.

It is very amusing to hear the Doctor tell of his experiences if you have time just let him tell you a few of the things he found out while trying to dispose of his blooms.

Dr. Bales is also a veteran of the Spanish-American war.

To His Wife

"You make me do what you will; you have full sovereignty here, and I award you with all my heart the command in all household matters, reserving my rights in other points. Never any good came out of female domination. God created Adam master and lord of all living creatures; but Eve spoilt all when she persuaded him to set himself above God's will. 'Tis you women with your tricks and artifices that lead men into error.—Luther.

American Cuckoos

The blackbill and yellowbill cuckoo occur commonly in summers throughout the United States and eastern Canada, but pass the winters in Central or South America. The blackbill cuckoo does not occur west of the Rocky mountains in midyear. The yellowbill cuckoo is known as the rain crow. Its note is supposed to predict rain.

Followed Directions

The young daughter wanted to practice at baking while the mother took a drive. Upon her return the mother found every bowl in the house had been used, and all were standing in a row on the kitchen table, ready for washing. Upon inquiry, the embryo cook explained: "Well, the recipe said to beat eight eggs separately."—Christian Science Monthly.

OHIO AMONG THE LEADERS

Is Fifth Among States Active In Recreation Work—Invested $682,278.

Ohio is fifth in the nation in the number of directed playgrounds and recreation centers its cities provide, according to the yearbook of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, just issued. Reporting 509 such recreation areas, the state is preceded only by New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Michigan. Ohio cities last year invested $682,278.12 in public recreation, more than six times their expenditure for this purpose 10 years before.

Eight hundred and thirty-one trained recreation leaders were employed during 1925, 57 of them the year round. Four cities of the state last year conducted classes for training recreation leaders, which had a total attendance of 345. Ohio takes second place among the 38 states whose municipalities maintain public golf courses. Fourteen Ohio cities have municipal golf, a number exceeded only by Illinois, with 15 cities.

Synthetic beefsteak is almost within reach of the research chemist. Synthetic hash with the protein factor supplied by specially prepared cottonseed is already a reality. Beef extract is also being made by poptonizing the proteins of wheat. The chief advantage of these synthetic productions is in the cost.

WHERE WOULD I FIND THE TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND?

"How was I to know that he was going to shoot out of that road? Right in front of my radiator. Never sounded his horn. Said he did; but he's a liar.

"And after I took him to the hospital and told 'em to spare no expense in making him comfortable, he turns and sues me. Asks $25,000. Has three witnesses (all of 'em in the car with him) to swear I was going sixty miles an hour.

"Offers to settle out of court for $10,000. Lawyer says I might do worse. Says those three witnesses are bad. Three men's word against mine. Says I ought to have found some myself. Listens nice—but there weren't any to find.

"Think I'll hand him over $10,000 without a fight?

"But why didn't I buy that insurance that fellow was trying to sell me? Told him I'd driven ten years without an accident and didn't see why I should begin now. He did say something about a lot of fool drivers on the road. Ought to have believed him. But I didn't think they made 'em as dumb and crooked as that fellow.

"What did he say insurance cost? Less than a hundred, I know. Lost ten times that amount already in sales just worrying about this. Funny how a thing like this upsets a fellow. What's the use of working if you've got to hand over everything you've made to some fool who doesn't know how to drive a car?

"Wonder what the jury will give him? Seen some pretty big awards lately in the newspapers. Bigger than $25,000, some of 'em. Never can tell what a jury will do. $25,000 (of my money) wouldn't seem much to them.

"Where would I find the twenty-five? Wish that insurance company were handling the case for me. Wonder if I hadn't better tell my lawyer if he can settle for $7,500, to go ahead and do it. Know a hundred better uses for $7,500. Hate to take chances on a jury, tho.

"Taught me a lesson. Won't catch me driving a car again unless it's fully insured. Lemme see, that insurance man's telephone number was 961 or 584, guess I better call him now."

SOCIAL CALENDAR

The Lutheran Brotherhood will entertain the soldiers of all wars in the social rooms of the Lutheran church Thursday evening, May 27.

Circleville chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, was royally entertained Thursday evening by Heber chapter in the Masonic lodge rooms in Williamsport.

The hostesses were the members of Heber chapter whose birthday anniversaries are in the month of May.

The degrees were conferred on one candidate in a very splendid manner by Worthy Matron Wanda Wardell and her corps of officers.

Following the work, a social session was held and refreshments served.

Those who attended from here were: Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Trout, Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Walker Baughman, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stevenson, Mrs. G. L. Schiear, Mrs. W. G. Graham, Mrs. Carrie A. Patton, Mrs. A. J. Lyle, Mrs. Belle Gearhart, Mrs. Robert Gearhart, Mrs. E. S. Neuding, Mrs. Harry McMahon, Mrs. H. G. Griner, Mrs. W. E. Hilliard, Mrs. G. E. Hammel, Miss Carrie Johnson, Miss Irene Orr, Miss Elizabeth Dornsife, Mrs. Ralph Long, Mrs. N. E. Reichelderfer, Mrs. Noah Weaver, Mrs. Charles H. Smith, Mrs. E. E. Prose, Mrs. J. D. Bragg, Mrs. Raymond Z. Myers, Mrs. Agnes Strahm, Mrs. E. L. Price, Mrs. Harvey Sweyer, Mrs. Mary Mack, Mrs. Edward Helwagen, Mrs. Charles A. Dresbach, Mrs. W. B. Cady, Mrs. Floyd Dunlap, Mrs. O. E. Prose, Edwin Walters and Paul A. Johnson.

The "Non-Bob" Sewing club, composed of Mrs. E. A. Brown, Mrs. Samuel T. Rife, Mrs. Wilson Cellar, Mrs. W. H. Leist Jr., Mrs. H. B. Colwell, Mrs. J. Chester Peters, Mrs. C. D. Closson, Mrs. Fred R. Nicholas, Mrs. H. M. Crites and Mrs. J. D. Hummel, entertained the "Knife and Fork" club members Thursday afternoon and evening at the spacious and beautiful country home of Mrs. J. Chester Peters, located on the Pickaway-Fairfield county line. The late afternoon was ideal for a picnic in the country and never was nature more beautiful the smell of the growing grass, the fragrance of the apple blossoms, the hum of bees, the evidence of the general resurrection of nature on every hand, was indeed rejuvenating. The long vista on many fertile acres westward from the elegant Peters home, flanked and backed by undulating meadows and orchard made an ideal setting for any artist's consideration; and no more ideally perfect was the setting than was the effect upon those entertained. The approaching shadows of the evening only added to the grandeur that was revealed when the candles shed their glow over the tables laden with viands that would tempt a king. The odor of lilacs permeated the spacious dining room as well as all the interior of the house. The only member absent was Mrs. C. D. Closson, who is sojourning at her girlhood home at Leipsic, Ohio. The picnic was so thoroughly enjoyed by the husbands that they decided that they would not be outdone by their wives, hence unanimously agreed to entertain them to a real Indian dinner as some future date.

Only the lateness of the evening brought to close an ideally perfect picnic, and a general expression of the superiority of Mrs. Peters as a most delightful hostess, came from each departing guest.

Most of us would be better off and succeed better in our business if we recognized the cash value of cheerfulness.

Americans Eig Losers in Casinos of France

Nice, France.—It is estimated that American visitors lost 33,240,000 francs in the Riviera casinos last year. The "kittles" of the various casinos amounted to 83,100,000 francs, 40 per cent of which is figured to have come from American pocketbooks.

The municipal casino of Cannes led all the others in paying local and state taxes on a total bank's percentage of 32,304,000 francs. The municipal casino of Nice was second with 26,280,000 francs, while the other casino at Nice, the Promenade Jetty casino, was third with 10,481,000 francs.

Monte Carlo casino, which is not a French casino, had a yearly "kitty" of 112,550,000 francs. (The franc at present is worth about 3 1/2 cents.)

Report of Grand Jury.

The recessed April grand jury met Friday morning and were discharged at noon, after making the following report:

Seven witnesses were examined in the case of the State against Moses Rutter and Arthur Justus, charged with stealing chickens from Harry Dresbach. Both men were jointly found guilty of burglary and larceny. K. D. Groce was the foreman of the jury.

The jury visited the jail and found it kept in sanitary condition.

THREE KILLED AND ANOTHER BADLY HURT

Their Automobile Stalled in Path of Speeding Freight Train at Lima.

Lima, O., May 14, (UP).—Three Ohio Northern university students, one a woman, were killed and a fourth was injured perhaps fatally in a grade crossing crash near here today.

The dead: Mason Jones, 23, Chillicothe. Frank Martin, 20, Barborton. Miss Jessie Mullen, Lima.

Frank Phillips, 19, Dover, Ohio, was so critically injured he probably will die physicians said.

The accident occurred at the Jackson street crossing when the automobile in which the students were riding stalled in the path of a speeding freight train.

Jones and Miss Mullen were killed instantly. Martin died while being moved to a hospital.

Phillips' body tossed forty feet from the shattered car. He was unconscious when picked up. One of his legs was broken and he had been injured internally.

The students had just left a Lima dance hall. Dancing at Ohio Northern has been banned. With others they had gone to Kenton where they rented the automobile to drive to Lima.

They were returning to Kenton when the crash occurred. Students in other machines were driving ahead of them and others were bringing up the rear.

Six Million Criminals in U. S., Records Show

Washington.—Statistics, disclosing that about 6,000,000 Americans at some time in their lives have indulged in criminal careers, were obtained at the Department of Justice.

About 3,000,000 have been accused in the courts. The other half, although at some time guilty of offenses for which they might have served terms in prison, have escaped the vigilance of the police.

The estimate of the criminally inclined population was made by department experts on the basis of the fact that finger-print records of 1,013,000 criminals are on file in the bureau of identification.

He's Cautious

Richmond, Va.—One Virginian is going to be a bachelor, for a while at least, because of his caution. To the questions of the clergyman, at his wedding, the cautious groom insisted on replying: "I'll do the best I can." The ceremony was called off and the fiance returned to the county clerk's office.

MEETING AT XENIA.

Seven delegates from Columbus, members of the state child welfare committee of the 40 et 8, and the chairman of the child welfare committee will attend a meeting of the Grand Voiture of Ohio Saturday and Sunday at Xenia.

The meeting was called to prepare plans by which 850 orphans of World war veterans, for whom there is now no room in state institutions, may be quartered. Members of the organization, thru branches in 66 counties, have completed a survey disclosing inadequate care for at least this number of children of World war veterans.

The organization also will make final plans for adding 1000 volumes to the library at the Soldiers and Sailors' Orphans' Home at Xenia, and for buying instruments to increase the band at the home from 39 to 80 players.

OBERLIN GIRL IS CANDIDATE YOUTH AWARD

Cornelia Rogers Has Been Listed "Volunteer Seamstress" of Family.

An unusual claim to excellence has been made by the sponsors for Mary Cornelia Rogers, 15 year old Oberlin, Ohio, high school girl candidate for the American Youth Award. They have listed her as "Volunteer seamstress of the family."

The American Youth Award and the American Teacher award have been established as a tribute to the youth and teachers of America by the directors of the Sesqui-Centennial International exposition which will be held in Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1, in celebration of 150 years of American Independence. The award is open to all boys and girls between the ages of 13 and 19 and to all women school teachers. Candidates may obtain official entry forms from Sesqui-Centennial headquarters, Philadelphia.

Each state and the District of Columbia has been invited to seek out its most outstanding boy and girl and woman teacher and these three will go to Philadelphia as guests of the exposition for the week of June 28 to July 5. They will also visit Washington, and at the White House will be presented with medals by President Coolidge. All of their expenses will be paid from the time they leave home until they return.

Miss Rogers' sponsors, the Rev. L. L. Lobingier, of 102 Morgan street, and Howard S. Rawdon, of 35 South Professor street, Superintendent of public schools, of Oberlin, Ohio, in support of her claim to those qualities on which the award will be made courage, heroism, sacrifice, leadership and patriotism—say of her: "The neighborhood children love her; older people mention her smile of greeting and the shut-ins, on whom she calls regularly, rely upon her. Every job gets the very best effort of which she is capable."

"In leadership she is not spectacular, neither craving the lime-light nor playing to the gallery. Instead, she is modest, quiet, persevering and faithful, accomplishing much by her methods in church, school, community and home work."

"At school she is student senate secretary, and as assistant literary editor of the school magazine was awarded a $20 prize for literary attainment and a bronze medal in a Peace Declaration contest."

The award will be made by a committee of pupils drawn from public, private and parochial schools in or near the Capital City. The administration of the award in Ohio will be conducted by a state committee of which Governor Donahey is honorary chairman.

KENTUCKY DERBY

Louisville, Ky., May 13.—(UP.)—It is now believed not more than 15 will go to the post in the 52nd renewal of the Kentucky Derby Saturday afternoon at Churchill Downs.

The field will be divided about equally between the East and the West. Eight of the 15 will carry the colors of Eastern horsemen and seven the colors of the West.

Eastern representatives are Pompey, Light Carbine, Blondin, Espino, Rock Man, Color Sergeant and Canter. The West's hopes are Bubbling Over, Baggenbaggage, Rhinock, Recollection, Roycroft, Champ de Mars and American Son.

American Son and Recollection are doubtful starters. Both have worked well, but Recollection hardly could be called of derby quality. He ran with rank platters last year and in defeating a nag called Bumpkin at Latonia last fall started an investigation which ended up in exposure of the famous jockey ring which brought about the expulsion of six riders and a number of horsemen who were accused of fixing races. The latest to be declared out of the derby are Timmara which came out of the Preakness in a bad way; Boot to Boot, Smiling Gus and My Colonel.

Canter, Display, Rock Man, Espino and Baggenbaggage arrived at the Downs late Wednesday. All shipped well.

Mae Busch and Owen Moore, favorites of millions of screen fans, head a brilliant cast at the Met in "Camille of the Barbary Coast" a highly dramatic story of a famous woman character of the dance halls who is lifted from the mire of the underworld thru the love of a ne'er-do-well. This youth is embittered against his own father and the world because of a prison sentence and the apparent unwillingness of society to give him a chance since his release from the prison walls.

Most of the background is that of the Barbary Coast that was known the world over before the San Francisco earthquake. Here was the land of the rouged cheek and the painted smile. Here was the port where there was a girl for every sailor. Here was a meeting place for the riff-raff of the world, the down-and-outs, the soldiers of fortune. Life was a gamble and virtue and sin were the chips.

Camille was just another of those women. But under the veneer of paint and forced abandon was a kindly soul and a big heart. After all, Camille was someone's daughter.

The prison gates had swung wide for Bob Norton. Bob had served his time, paid for his misdeed and squared himself with the world. All that he asked was a job—but all that he got was promise. Like a million other embittered and misguided souls, his footsteps carried him into the stormy Barbary coast. And then into the Midway, the hall of short dances and short skirts.

Interesting characters drifted by, faces that would fit into brighter settings, hearts that should have beaten to other tunes. Camille walked near his table, smiled and sat down. There in the foul atmosphere of wine and perfume and smoke they talked. Their friendship grew and Bob went to Camille's little apartment to accept food and shelter. Now commenced a struggle that carried them into new realism of hope and ambition.

The production is said to be one of the leading pictures of its kind of the year. The featured players are supported by a strong cast of well known cinema artists headed by Burr McIntosh, Harry T. Morey, Tammany Young and Fritzie Brunette. It is a Huge Dierker production from a story written by Forrest Halsey.

x HARTMAN THEATER. x
x x x x x x x x

Next week the Hartman Stock company will turn again to the lighter form of summer amusement and in "Judy Drops In" will offer a romantic comedy which is laid in Greenwich Village. It concerns a Cinderella of the Latin quarter with four guardians and is said to provoke more continuous laughter than any farce of recent years. "Judy" differs from the ordinary run of farces in that it contains not only the requisite number of mirth provoking situations and funny lines, but also a charming romantic love story as well. As one New York critic phrased it—"It makes the dimples to catch the tears."

Mark Swan, the author, is often referred to as the veteran farce writer and the New York production of "Judy Drops In" marked the 25th successive year that a play of his had been presented on Broadway, so Mr. Swan refers to "Judy" as his silver jubilee play.

The presentation at the Hartman next week will probably be the last time this play is ever offered by any stock company as it has already been withdrawn from the list of stock releases and is at the present time being fitted to tunes and lyrics and this winter "Judy" will revisit Broadway as a musical comedy. The Hartman Stock company will be allowed to produce it next week as a compliment to their stage director, John Hayden, who directed the original New York production.

A stock season is interesting to watch from the standpoint of the way in which it offers opportunities to the members of the cast. The big parts swing in a circle. You may remember that it was the third week before Georgio Neese and John Lott came into their own. In next week's play, Martha Lee Manners gets her big chance in a role that suits her down to the ground.

Miss Neese will be seen in a totally different part and so will Miss Ford, Donn Cook, Neil McFee, John Lott and Forrest Orr will play the four residents of the American artists quarter, next week will be your chance to see how they really live. You can imagine the fun to be extracted from the situations when the four men are occupying one room—cooking their own meals on a two-burner gas stove, and Judy drops in on them and is promptly adopted by the quartet. All four of the boys fall in love with her and to tell any more would spoil your fun. So make your reservation now because "Judy" will be very popular in Columbus next week.

Matinees Tuesday, Thursday and Saturdays.

Cottonseed Important

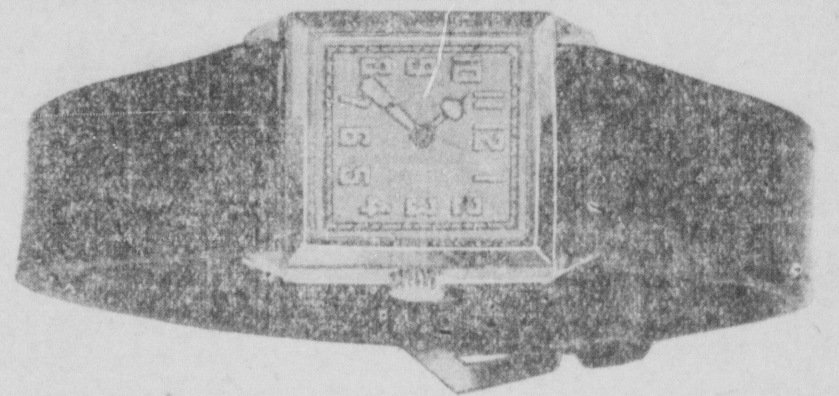

For decades cottonseed was a waste product. Today cottonseed is one of the country's foremost food and feed products, furnishing vast quantities of meal for animals, with a result that cottonseed alone, apart from cotton lint, is exceeded in value by only seven American farm crops—corn, cotton lint, hay, wheat, white potatoes, oats and tobacco. Cottonseed has greater value than the combined barley, rye and buckwheat crops of America and twice the value of America's apple crop.

CRIME WAVE?

It could hardly be called that.

Yet, many a time it has been said that it is a crime to let shoes go too long before having them resoled.

Lots of good repairable shoes are lying around inactive that could be repaired and would give long additional service. This is almost criminal waste.

It is practically criminal waste to buy cheap, unrepairable shoes. our

TURNPIKE LAW IN PICKAWAY OF INTEREST

This is Statute Governing Our Highways as Amended and Passed in 1893.

In these days of road building and road improvements, the statute controlling the roads of Pickaway county, may be of interest to our readers. It was amended and passed April 14, 1893, to read as follows:
"That the turnpike roads in Pickaway county, Ohio, now under the control of the commissioners of said county, including the free turnpike from the corporation line of the city of Circleville to the Red bridge across the Scioto river in Circleville township, which is hereby placed under the control of said commissioners, shall be 40 feet in width, measuring 20 feet each way from the center of the road as originally established; provided, that any of said township pike roads having a side track laid out at the time of the construction of said turnpike road, shall be 45 feet in width, measuring 22½ feet from the center of the road as originally established.
"The commissioners of said county are hereby authorized to enforce the establishment of the width of said turnpike roads as herein provided, and if any fence is upon the limits of said roads, the commissioners shall give notice to the owner or owners to cause the said fence or fences to be removed within twenty days and in case the removal if not made within the time specified, the commissioners may cause the removal of said fence or fences at the cost of the owner or owners, and if payment of the cost thereof is not made, or refused, the amount shall be assessed and collected as other taxes.
"Provided however, that where substantial fences have been built, or where a hedge fence has been grown within the boundaries of said turnpike previous to the passage of this act and so located as not to endanger or interfere with the free passage of travel or the maintenance of ditches for drainage of said turnpikes, the commissioners on view may permit said fence or hedge to remain until such time as in their opinion said fence or hedge should be renewed, and provided further, that whenever in their opinion fence are located within the boundary of said turnpike for the safety of the traveling public, the commissioners may permit such fences to so remain.
"Any person who places within the limits of any such road any wood, stone or other obstructions, so as to interfere with the public travel or prevents or interferes with the free passage of water in the side drains or ditches of any such roads, and, upon being notified by the commissioners to remove such obstruction, neglects or refuses to comply with such requirements within ten days from service of such notice, he shall forfeit and pay to and for the benefit of the turnpike fund of the county a sum not less than three nor more than ten dollars for each and every day he permits such obstruction to remain upon such road after the expiration of ten days from the service of such notice, which sum shall be recoverable by action in the name of the township where the destruction is placed."

Nebraska U Arranges Exchange With Mexico
City of Mexico.—Negotiations looking toward an exchange between the United States and Mexico of scientific and research knowledge have been conducted along successful lines in the last two months between the University of Nebraska and the Institute of geology of the Mexican government. Prof. E. F. Schramm, chief of the department of geology and paleontology of the University of Nebraska, is the chief power behind the movement to bring about an exchange between the countries of fossils, minerals and meteoric stones. John Zozaya, secretary of Judge E. B. Perry, American commissioner at the meetings of the special claims commissions, was commissioned to initiate the move to strengthen the scientific collections now existing in both countries with such specimens as each country is able to supply, which the other has not got. It is pointed out that there exist many fossils and other objects of scientific value in Mexico which are not to be found in museums in the United States and vice versa.

POULTRY AND HOGEXPERT COMING.

Dr. H. F. Emick, of the Research department of the George H. Lee company, Omaha, Nebraska, will speak on the Diseases of Poultry and Swine, Their Cause, Treatment and Prevention, May 18, at 2 o'clock at Cloverdell Poultry farm.

He will also conduct a Post-mortem demonstration clinic, teaching all who attend to easily recognize the common ailments of poultry and swine. This demonstration is of great value to every poultry and hog raiser, because the successful treatment of any trouble depends upon an accurate diagnosis and prompt action. Thousands of dollars are lost by farmers every year because of their inability to recognize trouble until it is well started when, if taken in time, loss could have been prevented. Hear this expert and be prepared. You may not be having any losses now, but the time will surely come when the information gained will pay big dividends.

Everyone who has been losing any chickens or pigs, or who has chickens or pigs that are not doing well, is urged to bring a specimen or two for examination and receive free instructions on the treatment, cause and prevention of the trouble. Urge your neighbor to do likewise. The more specimens brought in, the better the demonstration will be. There will be no admission charge, and no one will be solicited to buy anything, inasmuch as this meeting will be held purely for educational purposes with regard to the prevention of disease among poultry and swine. Come! and bring your poultry and pig troubles with you.

HAS CLEAREST SKIES IN WORLDQuetta May Be Chosen for Smithsonian-Geographic Observatory.

Washington.—Quetta, in Baluchistan, near which it is probable that a new solar observatory will be established by the National Geographic society and the Smithsonian institution, is familiar—as a name—to readers of Kipling and workers of cross-word puzzles, but probably means little to most Americans. The city and its region, recently visited by Dr. C. G. Abbot, assistant secretary of the Smithsonian institution, are the subjects of a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"Quetta exists primarily for military purposes," says the bulletin, "but the Pax Britannica that has been substituted for the lawlessness and banditry of former days has made an important civil community and trading center of it as well. Baluchistan is India's fortress to the east, and Quetta is its donjon keep. The British have been in control of the place since 1877, and since 1882 have held it under perpetual lease from its old ruler, the picturesquely named Wali of Kalat.

"When the British went in Quetta was only a little group of mud huts surrounded by unhealthy plains that were virtually swamps. Drainage and sanitation have made the place over. Now Quetta has a population of about 30,000; and the once swampy lowlands furnish a setting for villas and farmhouses surrounded by orchards and planted groves.

Mud Gives Way to Iron.

"The outstanding feature of Quetta, still, however, is the cantonment where six or eight regiments of British and Indian troops are quartered. This extensive post is to the north on relatively high ground while the civil town is to the south on a lower level. Mud, in the form of sun-dried brick, is still a most important building material in the town, though not to the extent that it was two decades ago. Then mud-brick domes formed many of the roofs, and were considered safe because of Quetta's scant rainfall (about 10 inches annually). But there came an unusually wet spring, and most of Quetta's buildings melted away. Since then many iron roofs—less picturesque, but better insurance against weather vagaries—have surmounted the mud walls of the town.

"The permeation of Quetta by British, or perhaps more broadly, by Western, influence, is a phenomenon that cannot be escaped by anyone who has known the town over a series of years. The standard of living rises before his eyes. Tea, a little while ago a marked luxury, is becoming a common beverage. Leather footwear has displaced sandals to a noteworthy degree; all classes are wearing warmer and more comfortable clothing; and the native women are decking themselves out in more ornaments, after the manner of their prosperous sisters in other climes.

"The climate of Quetta has interesting aspects. The place is in the same latitude as Cairo; Jacksonville, Fla.; and Shanghai; but, because of its 6,000 feet of altitude and the physical aspect of the surrounding country, its climate is very different. Each day the mercury bobs up and down through a wide range. The difference between daily maximum and minimum has been known to reach 80 degrees; but such excessive changes are confined to certain short seasons. The hills and even the valleys of Baluchistan are largely treeless, and when the sun is down heat radiates away rapidly. As a consequence the nights are always cool—

"In the matter of combating the climate, there is nothing like an American standard of comfort in the homes even of Europeans in Quetta. The winters in general are no more severe than those of Washington, but the houses are so constructed that it is most difficult if not impossible to keep warm. The rooms are huge—16 by 25 feet or so, with ceilings 18 to 24 feet high. Small fireplaces are set far into the very thick walls and what little warmth they radiate into the rooms is lost in their vastness. Yet coal of fair quality is mined nearby and is used in the town. Its use in modern heating systems could make Quetta homes as comfortable as any in the world.

"Clearest Sky in the World."

"If the National Geographic-Smithsonian solar observatory is established in Baluchistan it will be placed on top of 7,525-foot Kojak peak about 40 miles north of Quetta near the railroad which pierces the Kojak range and extends to Chaman, ten miles beyond on the Afghan border. To the east beyond the Kojak mountains the Registan or Helmand desert stretches for more than 100 miles. It is 60 miles to the nearest mountains in the north. To the east lies a long, broad valley. On this relatively isolated mountain ridge on the edge of the desert the precipitation is even less than in Quetta—probably seven inches or less per year. When Doctor Abbot visited the Kojak peak in January he reported that the sky was perfectly blue right up to the sun's edge and added: 'It was the clearest sky I have ever seen in the world.'

Carnegie Institute Expert Declares Real American Blood on Rapid Decrease—Many To In-termarry—Original Inhabitants
Will Become 39 Per Cent of Total in Four Generations.

Washington, May 13.—Within four generations the United States will be dominated by descendants of present foreign born residents, according to estimates by the Carnegie Institution of Washington, being studied by the house immigration committee.
Whereas native whites now constitute 76.73 per cent of the total population, birth control and other factors will have shrunk this group to 39.37 per cent. Descendants of the foreign born will in the same period total 51.76 per cent of the whole population, if present birth records are maintained.

The results of three separate surveys by the eugenics record office of the institution at Cold Harbor, New York, on the relation between immigration and numbers and quality of future population, were laid before the committee by Dr. H. Laughlin.

"If in any geographical region," said Dr. Laughlin, "we have the time, numbers and quality of its original seed-stock population, and for all subsequent periods we have a record of the age, sex, numbers and quality of all immigrants, the differential birth and survival rates for each population group, we can determine the population number, race and quality at any given future date."

The native born stock of the United States now has a reproducing rate of .42; the American Negro, .43, and the foreign, .71, according to the survey.

The American Negro, now 9.9
per cent of the total population, will have shrunk to but 6.89 per cent at the end of the fourth generation.

"Of course," the report said,
"these groups will not maintain reproductive independence. They will, to some extent, intermarry.
Nor will they keep up their present differential birth rate indefinitely."

"With the change of economic and social conditions, they will show a corresponding rise and fall in fecundity. But in the main, the tendencies shown in this table will persist for a long time and will greatly influence the future character of the country's population."

Perfect Wisdom

Perfect wisdom hath four parts, viz:
Wisdom, the principle of doing things aright; justice, the principle of doing things equally in public and private;
fortitude, the principle of not flying danger, but meeting it; and temperance, the principle of subduing desires, and living moderately.—Plato.

Influenza Ravages

Authorities differ as to the first account of Influenza, as well as to the identity of epidemics occurring before 1580. A severe epidemic in 412 B. C., described by Hippocrates and Livius, is thought to have been influenza. Authentic epidemics of the disease have occurred frequently since 1173.

Have the Wrong Idea

Too many people think that opportunity is a chance to get money without earning it. As a rule they have another chance to think, but too often they still fail to think straight, and finally reach the conclusion that the world's against them.—Grit.

Aspiration

Earnest Child (to librarian)—I'd

a great deed, or something.—Cleve-

A CLEW

Policeman (to bespectacled old professor who has witnessed the smash)—You say you saw the accident, sir. What was the number of the car that knocked this man down?

Professor—I'm afraid I've forgotten it. But I remember noticing that if it were multiplied by itself, the cube root of the product would be equal to the sum of the digits reversed.

SOUNDS QUEER, EH?

"Financially how much are you out?"
"Financially I'm all in."

That's Soft

He slipped upon the sidewalk and although he took a spill, it didn't hurt because he only fell against his will.

Shattered Romance

"Lawsy, but Ah suttinly does hate to lose dis job," sighed the colored maid upon being discharged.

"You have a family to support?" asked her late mistress.

"No'm, but Ah's got an engagement to be broke," groaned the girl.—American Legion Weekly.

Not Just Then

Goodfellow Bridegroom—Step up, old man! Don't you want to kiss the bride?

Bashful Guest—Well, er—if it's all the same to you, I'd rather some other time.—American Legion Weekly.

Short on the Long Green

Young Grocer (to partner)—I don't see how you had this counterfeit bill passed on you.

Partner—Well, I don't see enough real money to enable me to tell the difference.—The Progressive Grocer.

Modernism Again

"It seems like a waste of money to keep up the expenses of a home these days," growled the first married man. "Still, the wife and kids have to have some place to go away from," replied the second ditto.

NO NUMBERED WIVES

Cornstossel (at phone)—Hello, hello! Kin you let me talk to my wife?
Operator—Number, please.
Cornstossel—Say, I ain't no Mormon, miss!

A Plea for Information

Oh, chemists, please investigate And drop me just a line I'd like to know what carbonate? And where did iodine?

Trepidation Justified

"What do you think gave that actor stage fright when he made his first appearance?" asked the manager. "Premonition," replied the press agent. "He knew what his acting was going to be like."—Washington Star.

All Off!

"Could you learn to love me?" he asked.

"I might," she replied, "but I could never learn to smoke your brand of cigarettes."

Ignoring Moses

From an English music program: "When Israel Out of Egypt Came, led by Dr. A. C. Tysoe."

We had an impression the leader was Moses.

Slaves

Aunt Rachel—When I was your age we always kept our legs covered.

Ruby—Oh, styles will make one do almost anything.

He Loses Out

"I'll never sign up another film actress for five years."

"What happened?"

"She got fat on my hands."

YOU'RE MIGHTY WELCOME

Says "Doc" Bales, To the Triangle Gardens.

Following a hobby is terribly expensive to some of us and more often leads to ways other than prosperity, but this does not refer to what Doctor B. R. Bales has done with his.

When just a small boy in school his teachers were hard pressed to keep him interested so one of them remarks and translating her remarks literally, she thought he was what is commonly known as a bad boy. Racking her brain to keep him out of mischief she started him upon a hobby which at first was gathering birds' nests, eggs, Indian trophies and finally wild flowers. From wild flowers to the growing of cultivated ones is only a short step and a trip down the Scioto Trail just south of town will show how far Doctor Bales has let his hobby take him.

Finishing school he took up the study of medicine as after he became interested in study, if it was only that of flowers, he went to work with a will and graduated with honors from old Everts High School and took his course at Ohio State University and was graduated in 1894.

He afterward took a medical course, and became the most sought after doctor in the county in maternity cases.

His father, Mr. J. F. Bales, who at that time was a sufferer from anaemia, was greatly in need of a blood transfusion and the Doctor gave his blood to help save his father's life. This he underwent a second and third time and the loss of blood, while restoring his father's health, weakened his condition and caused him to become nervous and practically unfit to perform his duties with the same amount of pep that he had been putting into the work. This work at best is extremely trying and exacting and the doctor found that he would be unable to keep it up.

While recuperating and taking life a shade easier, he turned his attention to raising flowers again and giving more time to it he raised more flowers. First thing he knew, he had so many flowers he did not know what to do with them and some one offered to buy some while the most of them went to his friends.

He finally was confronted with the fact that he must dispose of them and to his surprise he found a ready market for all of them and more than he could supply.

It is very amusing to hear the Doctor tell of his experiences if you have time just let him tell you a few of the things he found out while trying to dispose of his blooms.

Dr. Bales is also a veteran of the Spanish-American war.

To His Wife

"You make me do what you will; you have full sovereignty here, and I award you with all my heart the command in all household matters, reserving my rights in other points. Never any good came out of female domination. God created Adam master and lord of all living creatures; but Eve spoilt all when she persuaded him to set himself above God's will. 'Tis you women with your tricks and artifices that lead men into error.—Luther.

American Cuckoos

The blackbill and yellowbill cuckoo occur commonly in summers throughout the United States and eastern Canada, but pass the winters in Central or South America. The blackbill cuckoo does not occur west of the Rocky mountains in midyear. The yellowbill cuckoo is known as the rain crow. Its note is supposed to predict rain.

Followed Directions

The young daughter wanted to practice at baking while the mother took a drive. Upon her return the mother found every bowl in the house had been used, and all were standing in a row on the kitchen table, ready for washing. Upon inquiry, the embryo cook explained: "Well, the recipe said to beat eight eggs separately."—Christian Science Monthly.

CHICKEN DINNER.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First division of the Methodist Episcopal church will serve a chicken dinner next Friday evening, May 14, in the basement of the church. Dinner 50c. Ice cream and cake extra.

OHIO AMONG THE LEADERS

Is Fifth Among States Active In Recreation Work—Invested
$682,278.

Ohio is fifth in the nation in the number of directed playgrounds and recreation centers its cities provide, according to the yearbook of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, just issued. Reporting 509 such recreation areas, the state is preceded only by New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Michigan. Ohio cities last year invested $682,278.12 in public recreation, more than six times their expenditure for this purpose 10 years before.

Eight hundred and thirty-one trained recreation leaders were employed during 1925, 57 of them the year round. Four cities of the state last year conducted classes for training recreation leaders, which had a total attendance of 345. Ohio takes second place among the 38 states whose municipalities maintain public golf courses. Fourteen Ohio cities have municipal golf, a number exceeded only by Illinois, with 15 cities.

Synthetic beefsteak is almost within reach of the research chemist. Synthetic hash with the protein factor supplied by specially prepared cottonseed is already a reality. Beef extract is also being made by poponizing the proteins of wheat. The chief advantage of these synthetic productions is in the cost.

Accomplished That Much. Anyway. The hearing in Washington on the prohibition question has enabled a lot of people to get much off their chests. —New York Commercial.

WHERE WOULD I FIND THE TWENTY- FIVE THOUSAND?

"How was I to know that he was going to shoot out of that road? Right in front of my radiator. Never sounded his horn. Said he did; but he's a liar.

"And after I took him to the hospital and told 'em to spare no expense in making him comfortable, he turns and sues me. Asks $25,000. Has three witnesses (all of 'em in the car with him) to swear I was going sixty miles an hour.

"Offers to settle out of court for $10,000. Lawyer says I might do worse. Says those three witnesses are bad. Three men's word against mine. Says I ought to have found some myself. Listens nice—but there weren't any to find.

"Think I'll hand him over $10,000 without a fight?

"But why didn't I buy that insurance that fellow was trying to sell me? Told him I'd driven ten years without an accident and didn't see why I should begin now. He did say something about a lot of fool drivers on the road. Ought to have believed him. But I didn't think they made 'em as dumb and crooked as that fellow.

"What did he say insurance cost? Less than a hundred, I know. Lost ten times that amount already in sales just worrying about this. Funny how a thing like this upsets a fellow. What's the use of working if you've got to hand over everything you've made to some fool who doesn't know how to drive a car?

"Wonder what the jury will give him? Seen some pretty big awards lately in the newspapers. Bigger than $25,000, some of 'em. Never can tell what a jury will do. $25,000 (of my money) wouldn't seem much to them.

"Where would I find the twenty-five? Wish that insurance company were handling the case for me. Wonder if I hadn't better tell my lawyer if he can settle for $7,500, to go ahead and do it. Know a hundred better uses for $7,500. Hate to take chances on a jury, tho.

"Taught me a lesson. Won't catch me driving a car again unless it's fully insured. Lemme see, that insurance man's telephone number was 961 or 584, guess I better call him now."

Nicholas, Mrs. H. M. Crites and Mrs. J. D. Hummel, entertained the "Knife and Fork" club members Thursday afternoon and evening at the spacious and beautiful country home of Mrs. J. Chester Peters, located on the Pickaway-Fairfield county line. The late afternoon was ideal for a picnic in the country and never was nature more beautiful the smell of the growing grass, the fragrance of the apple blossoms, the hum of bees, the evidence of the general resurrection of nature on every hand, was indeed rejuvenating. The long vista on many fertile acres westward from the elegant Peters home, flanked and backed by undulating meadows and orchard made an ideal setting for any artist's consideration; and no more ideally perfect was the setting than was the effect upon those entertained. The approaching shadows of the evening only added to the grandeur that was revealed when the candles shed their glow over the tables laden with viands that would tempt a king. The odor of lilacs permeated the spacious dining room as well as all the interior of the house. The only member absent was Mrs. C. D. Closson, who is sojourning at her girlhood home at Leisig, Ohio. The picnic was so thoroughly enjoyed by the husbands that they decided that they would not be outdone by their wives, hence unanimously agreed to entertain them to a real Indian dinner as some future date.

Only the lateness of the evening brought to close an ideally perfect picnic, and a general expression of the superiority of Mrs. Peters as a most delightful hostess, came from each departing guest.
